A photograph showing a stack of ten rows of a black, ribbed material. The material has a series of parallel, rounded ridges running across its width. It appears to be a flexible sheet, possibly for roofing or cladding, and is shown from a perspective view that highlights its thickness and the uniformity of the ribs. The stack is neatly aligned, and the material has a matte, non-reflective finish.

12 rows

A photograph of a dark, corrugated metal panel, likely a roof or wall cladding, showing 12 rows of ridges. The panel is mounted on a light-colored wall.

12 rows

A black tray with 12 vertical compartments, each containing a small, dark, rectangular object. The objects are arranged in a grid pattern, with 12 rows and 12 columns. The objects are small, dark, and rectangular, possibly representing a specific type of data or a specific type of object. The tray is black and the objects are dark, creating a high-contrast image.
